प्रवेशद्वार

The building placed to the right hand side after entering the premises is known as “Purna Bahuk”. The clock-wise arrangement of the rooms in this type indicates prosperity, abundance of riches, sons, grandsons, food grain.

The building placed to the left hand side is known as ‘Heena Bahuka’ and suggests paucity of finance, of friends and relatives, slavery to the women, persistent ill health. The main entry from the rear side of the building is known as “Pratyakshalaya”. The Heena Bahuka type of house and one that has entry from the rear side have been considered inauspicious.

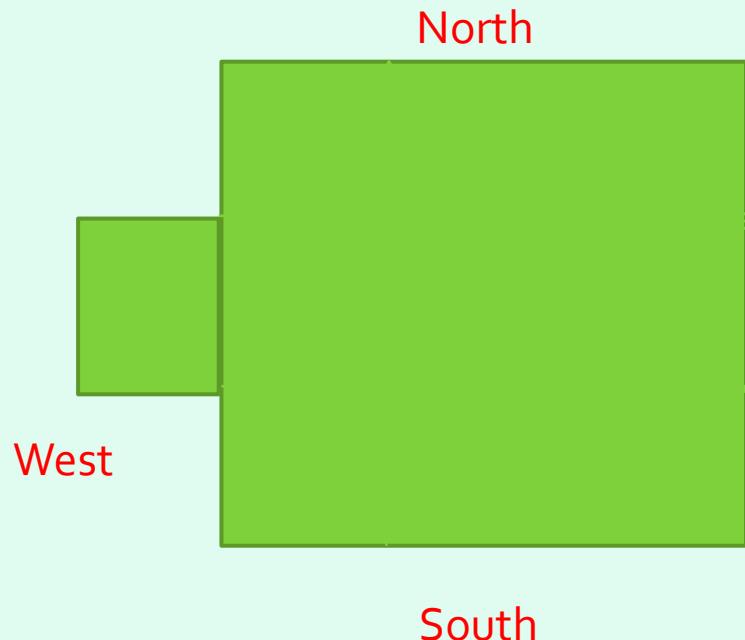

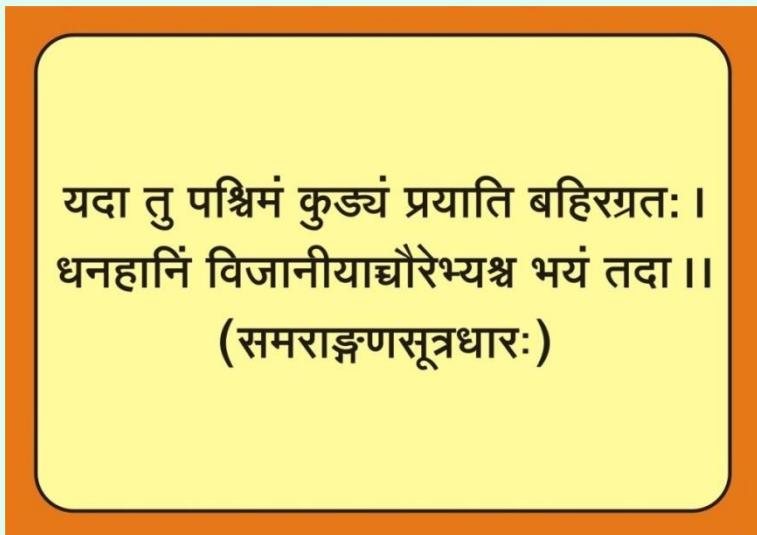

INCREASE IN DIRECTION

North

The Southward extension of a building is suggestive of the fear of diseases or wrath of the rulers.

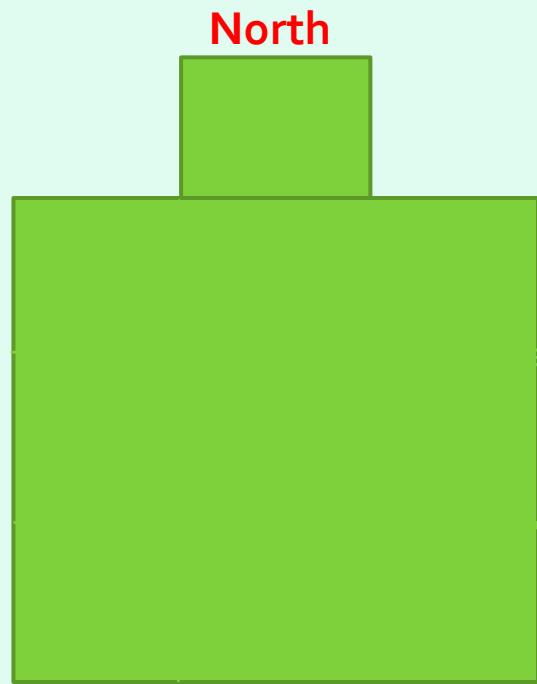

INCREASED WEST

The Westward extension of a building indicates financial losses and fear of thieves.

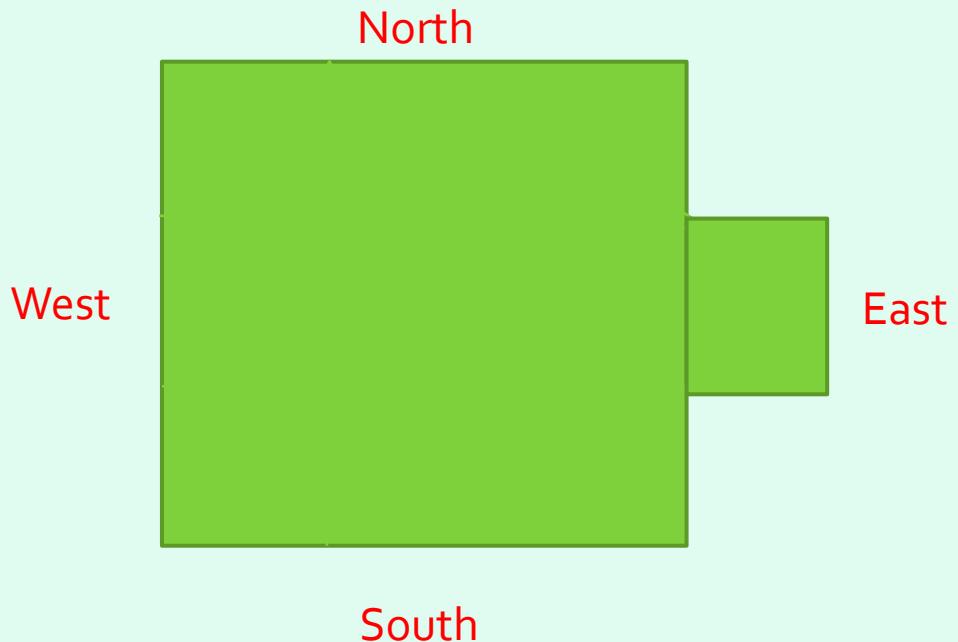

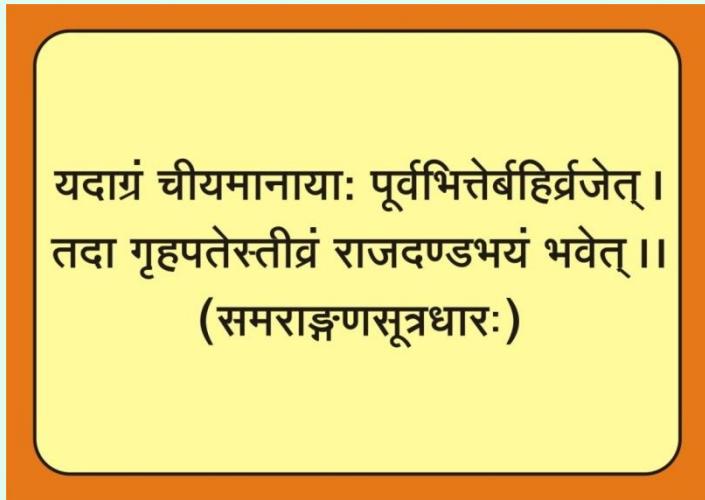

INCREASED NORTH

उत्तरं तु यदा कुञ्जं चीयमानं बहिर्वर्जेत् ।
गृहभर्तुश्च कर्तुश्च व्यसनं स्यात् तदा महत् ॥
(समराङ्गणसूत्रधारः)

The house-owner and the architect become addict if the building extended to North direction. The house-owner and the architect both are responsible for the fault.

INCREASED EAST

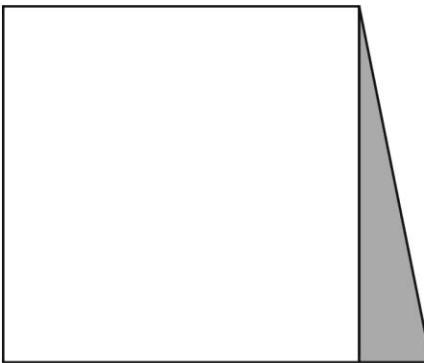

The Eastward extension of a building might evoke excessive wrath of the rulers.

INCREASED SOUTH - EAST

प्रागदक्षिणो यदा कर्णश्चीयमानो बहिर्वजेत् ।
तत्राग्निभीतिरतुला संशयश्च प्रभोर्भवेत् ॥
(समराङ्गणसूत्रधारः)

The South-East extension of a building causes fear of fire.
